

Using the power lines for rf distribution would cause interference on the ham bands.